STREET LIGHTS FOR GRANDVIEW FARM

A question here and a question there produced what you see in these photos: street lights for Cobblestone Drive.

It was cost free for us, but our leader, Daryl Acor, had to scoop up and haul a lot of the debris off to the City Landfill.

Three of these “babies” are located strategically along our very own public street.

Thank you, Provo City!
Thank you Mel Smith!

Condo Briefs

SWIMMING SEASON. As the Condo pool comes into operation for another season, that does not happen without serious effort on the part of several of our neighbors.

Tanya and Tony Nisse have been operating the intricacies of the pool, including meeting the standards set by the County Health Department. They moved through that process once again and produced machinery that works and sparkling clean pool sides and bottom.

Pat Lovell and Shirlene Hindmarsh assisted Grade Marie Dennis in cleaning the deck and the outdoor furniture.

Two of four one-year old lounge chairs had to be replaced this spring. Grace Marie, who is the Board member responsible for the Club House and pool, wanted to encourage parents or grandparents to not let their youngsters use the lounge chairs as a diving board, please!

COMING AND GOING. Maxine Cameron’s unit has been sold to Robert and Patti Moss, who live to the west and south on Grandview Hill.

Sandra Price, who has lived here longer than any other owner, has her home on the market. It has not been listed. You can contact her at 801-472-3790.

We're Looking "Pretty Good" as We Head Into Summer

The heat hasn't really hit us yet so consider taking the time to walk the grounds at the Farm. The foliage and lawns are green. There are still some flowers in bloom. And you might even meet a neighbor.

Life is too short to let these opportunities get away from us. Memorial Day, formerly referred to as Decoration Day, reminds us that Family and Friends are to be treasured while they are here, and remembered as treasures when they are gone.

This is the Todd Pyne family. He is our new landscape contractor, and on this day his whole family, including the daughter in the inset, were making a contribution. Todd handled the sprinkling systems for Duvall last year, and has made an excellent start for us this year.

On this Day (May 29) we honored those who died in America's wars, and expressed love for family who have gone on ahead
